Residents of New Lenox were shocked and grieved last Sunday morning when they received the news of the sudden death of their beloved citizen and friend, Fred G. Krog.

Because their 18th wedding anniversary was Monday, he and his wife planned to have dinner with her sister in Chicago. He did not attend Sunday school as he usually did where he taught a class in the Trinity Lutheran church, but met his wife there following the service where she also taught a Sunday school class. From there they drove on to Chicago, but when they neared the intersection of Wolf road and route 6 he told his wife he felt dizzy and slowed the car down to pull on the shoulder and stop. Mrs. Krog reached for the wheel and stopped the car as he was slumped in her arms.

Tourists from Colorado who were behind the Krog's noticed their trouble and came to their assistance. They called from a gas station at the intersection for Dr. W. H. Cave at Frankfort with whom he had been doctoring. A call was made for an ambulance, but when Dr. Cave arrived he pronounced Mr. Krog dead.

Their son Richard, 15, who spent the week end with his relatives in Chicago, was to meet his parents at the home of Mrs. Krog's sister, Miss Erna Ninneman, and return with them following the dinner.

Born in Manila, Ia. Dec. 19, 1901, Mr. Krog was the son of the late Rev. Carl Elbert and Pauline Krog. He received his early schooling in the Holy Trinity Lutheran school there and later attended St. Stephen's school at Atkins, Ia., and the Concordia seminary college at Milwaukee, Wis. for two years.

He entered the banking business in Iowa and was at Eau Claire, Wis. when he accepted the position as cashier at the New Lenox State bank 20 years ago, which position he held at the time of his death. He also served as school treasurer of New Lenox township and had a thriving insurance business. Mr. Krog was a friend to all and everyone holds him in high esteem. He was a patient in Silver Cross hospital a number of months ago suffering from a heart ailment, but was much improved.

Mr. Krog was a leader and supporter in the New Lenox Lutheran church, where he was a member of the building committee in its new building project. He was the means of raising a large amount of funds for this purpose, and was active in every department for the advancement of church work. He will be greatly missed by all.

Beside his church affiliation he was also a member of the New Lenox Lions club and a member of the club's building committee.

On May 26, 1934 he was united in marriage with the former Miss Ann Ninneman.

Surviving beside his wife and son are two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Block of Cleveland, Ohio and Mrs. Irene Bretthauer of Soldier, Ia., five brothers, Rev. Carl E. Krog, Chicago; Peter of Rochester, N. Y.; Walter, Marion, Ia. and Wilfred of Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Funeral services were held Wednesday in the Carlson funeral home in Joliet with the Rev. Leonard Reinke, pastor of the New Lenox Lutheran church officiating. Burial was made in Bethania cemetery at Justice, Ill.

Four bank directors, Fred Francis, Archie Corp, John Handorf and Ceward W. Batson were pall bearers with Bank Director Ernest Oram following. Pall bearers from the New Lenox church were Amos Bruns and Ernest C. Ryberg.

Decoration Day

The roll of the drums, the big brass bands surge up and down the streets o'er our land Banners unfurled, the marching feet, Drum majors prance in the May day heat. From the parents, the children break away, To get a little nearer to the gay display.

Now the soldiers pass the reviewing stand—"Eyes, right"; is the stern command. Here comes our colors, borne proudly high Rippling and tossing against blue sky. Your heart contracts and skips a beat As Old Glory passes down the street.

In the rumble and roar of tanks and guns We think of battles our boys have won. I can see red poppies in Flanders' Field Where American doughboys would not yield To a murderous, marauding tyrants band, And fought with bayonets man to man,

On the beach at Normandy red with blood They threw back the rising German flood. To-day no more the Hitler 'Heils' No more we hear the Mussolini guile, No more the Nippon's fiendish raids As Pearl Harbor's wounds begin to fade.

From Korea's far mountainous shores We pray the guns will still once more So our boys may come home to stay To live as they should, our American way, With peace of mind and the heart content Across the great American continent. So bring forth the blooms so all our dead Have wreaths and garlands o'er grassy beds And pray to God and the great Saints above We'll keep Old Glory o'er the land they loved.

Gift to Church From Green Garden MYF

A dedication service was held in the Green Garden Methodist church Sunday for an altar base presented by the Youth Fellowship of the church. The altar base about, four feet by seven feet, is made with three steps representing faith, hope and love. Altar pieces are a brass cross and two candlesticks with matching collection plates.

As the pastor of the church, the Rev. David Munson, led the dedication service the members of the MYF knelt around the altar and at the close of the service a hidden light back of the cross was turned on which cast a reflection on the maroon velvet drapes that form the background for the altar and pieces, and make a very impressive and beautiful setting.

Survey Report and Sites Descriptions

The survey report entitled "A School for Tomorrow" has been recently received by the Board of Education of High School District No. 210. It was compiled by the College of Education of the University of Illinois, and contains over 200 pages outlining the full educational program for the new high school district for the present and for the foreseeable future.

The report is based on the census made by the local citizens committee which consisted of the following members:

George Bovee, Mrs. Winsor Jones, and Milford Smith, Manhattan; Lester Brown, Mrs. Iona Ruthenbeck, New Lenox; Mrs. Elizabeth Cappel, Clarence Lauffer, Mokena; Vernon Hansen, Mrs. Eugene Walker, Lincoln Estates; Eugene Hinspeter, Mrs. Stanley Johnson, Frankfort.

The report was compiled under the guidance of Dr. M. R. Sumption, head of the Office of Field Services of the College of Education. The heads of the different departments at the University of Illinois contributed to the various parts of the survey. Each is an expert in his field. The entire report is based on the exact needs for District 210.

The curriculum suggestions are very complete and include the most advanced thing along educational lines today. Since the district is completely new and has no precedent, it presents a wonderful opportunity to initiate an educational program which can be one of the finest in the State of Illinois.

Dr. M. R. Sumption stated: "In presenting this flexible educational blueprint for the future which was developed through the combined efforts of local citizens and the survey staff, we believe that the program recommended will bring to the community new and better educational opportunities for tomorrow."

The school will be fully accredited and its curriculum will be tailor made for the district, and will consist of the following departments: Arts and crafts, physical education, science, business education, agriculture, music, industrial arts, English, mathematics, social studies, world languages, home economics.

The survey report also includes a complete analysis and recommendations as to the site, building, transportation of students, financial status of the district, administration of the school, population and the history of the community. The board invites anyone who may be interested in reviewing this survey to contact one of the board members for a copy.

The board has also acquired two sites which will be submitted to the voters for their approval. Both sites have been examined by the University of Illinois Survey committee and by the architects, Childs and Smith. Both are well adapted for the district. They are adjacent to each other and located in the center of the district approximately midway between New Lenox and Wolf road on the Lincoln highway.

Site No. 1 is the Shepley farm consisting of 70 acres on which the board has obtained an option for the price of $400.00 per acre. It has ample frontage on the Lincoln highway, is high, and has no waste ground. It includes a small grove of trees toward the back, and slopes gently to the north which provides good drainage and sewage disposal facilities. It is recommended by the architects and the survey committee as the more suitable site for school purposes.

Site No. 2 is part of the Archibald farm located just east of site No. 1 and consists of 50 acres for the price of $500.00 per acre. Both sites have the advantage of a dead end road which can be used by the district to eliminate traffic hazards. More than one-half of all the children of the district under 18 years of age live within three miles of these sites, three-fourths of them live within five miles, and all of the children live within 10 miles.

new officers of the MYF were installed, Roger Bettenhausen, president; Ralph Morrison, vice president; Kenneth Andres, secretary; William Kraf, treasurer; Loris Bettenhausen, Leslie Copeman, Caroline Kraf, and Beverly Bettenhausen, commissioners. Mrs. June Ulrich is counselor of the group.

The Rambler—Then and Now

ABOVE—This is the 1920 Rambler, first to be offered for sale by Nash Motors' predecessor, the Thomas B. Jeffery Company of Kenosha, Wisconsin. It was a one-cylinder, 12-horsepower "runabout." More than 1,500 were sold in the first year, representing one-sixth of all cars built by the industry in 1920.

BELOW—Today, the Nash Rambler carries on the tradition of a great car introduced 32 years ago. This new type car was first introduced by Nash Motors in 1950. Shown is the Rambler "Country Club" hardtop convertible, the latest in a series which now includes a convertible, a station wagon, a Suburban, a Greenbrier, and a Deliveryman.

Welcome Home, Sergeant!

Sergeant Donald McIntyre, former telephone installer, recently returned from Korea where he served with the 1st Marine Division. He was twice awarded the Purple Heart.

He is coming back to his job at Illinois Bell. In a certain sense, he has never been away. For more than just his "old job" is waiting for him. He will also receive the regular wage increases that would have been reflected in his pay check had he continued as installer and not been called into the service.

There are some 700 other Illinois Bell men now in service who will receive a similar welcome home from us!

The McIntyres are a telephone family

The Sergeant's late father was an Illinois Bell man for 35 years. His mother is a former telephone operator. And his brother Angus and sister Mary now work for the company in Chicago.

Do many other Illinois Bell employees, like the Sergeant, have "kinfolk" in the company? They certainly do—5,478 of them!

When so many people recommend a business to their relatives, they must be convinced it offers fair treatment, good wages and real opportunity.

Entrance Tests For Silver Cross Nurses School June 24

National accreditation was granted this week to Silver Cross Hospital School of Nursing, Joliet, according to the director, Miss Adeline M. Jorstad, who announced that the next pre-entrance test would be held on June 24.

The school has been accredited by the Illinois Department of Registration and Education, but it was only last year that a national accrediting service was set up sponsored by the American Nurses association, Miss Jorstad explained.

The National Nursing Accrediting service secures data on facilities and faculty qualifications from schools seeking accreditation and from two service representatives who pay visits of inspection, with all reports turned over for review and action by a national board.

The purpose of the program is to improve nursing care, according to the director, Miss Helen Nahn, who points out that since nurses are the product of the schools from which they graduate it is up to the schools to create the kind of environment that will attract and hold desirable candidates and that will enable them to develop the understanding, skills and attitudes essential for effective service.

Good nursing care should be a community concern, Miss Nahn declares, saying that it is essential to the development of good nursing programs to have the help and understanding of hospital administrators, doctors, educators, members of boards of trustees and interested citizens.

Entrance Tests For Silver Cross Nurses School June 24

National accreditation was granted this week to Silver Cross Hospital School of Nursing, Joliet, according to the director, Miss Adeline M. Jorstad, who announced that the next pre-entrance test would be held on June 24.

The school has been accredited by the Illinois Department of Registration and Education, but it was only last year that a national accrediting service was set up sponsored by the American Nurses association, Miss Jorstad explained.

The National Nursing Accrediting service secures data on facilities and faculty qualifications from schools seeking accreditation and from two service representatives who pay visits of inspection, with all reports turned over for review and action by a national board.

The purpose of the program is to improve nursing care, according to the director, Miss Helen Nahn, who points out that since nurses are the product of the schools from which they graduate it is up to the schools to create the kind of environment that will attract and hold desirable candidates and that will enable them to develop the understanding, skills and attitudes essential for effective service.

Good nursing care should be a community concern, Miss Nahn declares, saying that it is essential to the development of good nursing programs to have the help and understanding of hospital administrators, doctors, educators, members of boards of trustees and interested citizens.

I. C. C. Approves Changes For Gas

The Illinois Commerce Commission has approved a slight modification in the gas restriction order of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, it was announced today.

The changes, principally in the interest of clarification and simplification, includes:

1. Twelve months time for authorized customers to install their gas furnaces instead of the present six months.

Limited availability of heating equipment and of skilled installers has prevented many customers authorized last December from installing their gas heat equipment by June, as required under the old order.

2. All future requests for gas heat to be made in writing on a form to be supplied by the company.

Previous requests have been permitted by letter, telephone or personal call. The new written request form will minimize the possibility of misunderstanding on the part of either the company or the customer as to date, address, etc.

3. A simplified method of allocating gas heat authorizations when and if additional gas becomes available.

The order sets forth a simplified and equitable method for handling future allocations as between existing homes and new homes built by individuals and project builders. Allocations would be made according to the ratio of requests in each group based on dates of request.

In asking for continuation of the gas restriction order, the company reported that even though a large number of customers had been authorized in 1951 to install their gas furnaces, there were still a large number on the gas heat waiting list. The many authorizations last year were due to completion of the new Texas Illinois natural gas pipeline from the gulf coast of Texas to Joliet from which Public Service received an additional supply of gas.

All gas heat requests filed prior to September 1, 1951 have been authorized, it was stated.

Continuation of the restriction order, in effect since July 1946, is necessary, it was said, until further additional supplies of gas become available. There was no indication as to when this might occur.

BOARD ENGAGES

employ an administrator at this time. An administrator is needed to handle the many details involved in the new school program and in the coming building program. It is essential for the Board to work closely with the architects, the State Department of Public Instruction, and the University of Illinois, in order to have all plans approved and to have these plans fit the educational needs of the district. Mr. Chapman has had considerable experience in this type of planning, having just completed a study of building requirements and plans for a new building in the Unit District at Arenzville. The Superintendent will be required to make a thorough study of the curriculum of the school and to study the histories and records of each of the children who will be later enrolled in the school. Much time will need to be spent in obtaining the proper educational equipment required and in coordinating the various activities involved in establishing a new high school district. An accounting system will have to be set up, together with a school budget and all the necessary state reports for state aid.

Superintendent Chapman has stated that he is very much interested in the formation of a permanent Citizens Advisory Committee. During the coming months all interested citizens will have an opportunity to study the proposed curriculum and to make recommendations for improvements and additions.

TONY WILL RUN IN MAY 30 RACE AFTER CRACKUP

Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, the 1951 American Automobile association champion, was thought to be out of the Indianapolis race for Memorial Day when he figured in a crack up of his car last Friday.

He was driving in the trials, the famous Belanger 99, the same car which won the 500 mile race last year when it was driven by Lee Wallard.

Tony spun 150 yards on a turn, hit the wall, spun two more times and hit the wall again, and for the third time again 120 yards away.

He had completed the third and next-to-last lap of his test run at 136.178 miles an hour just before the crash. The car was wrecked and out of the race. Tony injured his left elbow.

With his arm in a bandage, he was ready to take the 10 mile test again Monday when he qualified with an average of 135 miles, driving the Blue Crown special.

Wayfarers to Have Garden Program

The Wayfarers' club will meet Thursday evening, June 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the Mokena Public school auditorium, for a short business meeting. At the program starting at 8 p.m., Mrs. Walter Eichelberg, president of the Tinley Park Garden club, will give a talk on flowers, gardening and the arranging of flowers. This should prove an interesting talk at this time of year.

At the last program of the club David J. Purtell, of the Scientific Crime Detection laboratory, who works with questioned documents, gave an interesting talk on forged checks and counterfeit money. He told of a criminal who made counterfeit money while he was serving time in a penitentiary, and whose product was so perfect that he was able to pass it through banks after he was released.

The officers of the club have been arranging these interesting programs to attract a good turnout. Refreshments will be served after the program Thursday evening.
